

Keeping Children Safe – Autumn Term update

Please see below for information on:

- E-safety
- Road Safety
- Fire safety
- Firework safety
- Preventing accidents

E-Safety

Firstly, thank you for helping your children access their home learning in this new ‘virtual’ world we are in at the moment. It’s likely that your children are now spending more time on the internet completing school work which is brilliant but also brings with it some concerns around keeping them safe online. This may be something you have not had to deal with before so we’ve put together some resources to help keep you and your children safe when using the internet.

Advice for parents on keeping your children safe online:

A new document from the government for parents all about keeping children safe online

The NSPCC has advice on keeping children safe online

Safer Internet has more tips and advice for keeping children safe online

National online safety have produced safety guides to support parents in understanding how best to use the different sites that children may now be accessing

Parent Info provides support and advice to parents, with contributions from the leading experts and organisations in matters related to young people and families in a digital world – they have lots of information about not only keeping children safe online but also general parenting support

Resources to use with your children to support them in understanding how to stay safe online:

Cyberland is a suite of fun educational games designed to educate young inquisitive minds and introduce them to the world of cyber security as well as the Computer Misuse Act.

A range of resources from ‘think u know’ that are helpfully split into different age ranges that can be used with children to explain the importance of being safe online

They even have some activity packs to support your child in learning about e-safety which they will be updating with different activities every couple of weeks

Childnet has some good conversation starters to support you in talking to your children about online safety

They also have a resource for talking to children who are under 5

A resource to use with children who have SEND

If you or your child has concerns over something online:

If you do come across anything that concerns you while you or your children are online, there is an online reporting tool for any person who wishes to report illegal or harmful information, pictures or videos that they have found on the internet. A report can be made using the following link:

CEOP

Or

The Government's site if you believe there is a link to terrorism

Road Safety

KS1 - Stop, Look, Listen and think

KS2 – Solo journeys and how to stay safe

Fire safety

West Yorkshire Fire Prevention Training Team have created some exciting learning materials to help you at home during COVID-19 and give your children something different and engaging to do.

Firework safety

West Yorkshire Fire and Rescue service top tips

Accident prevention

There is so much on social media, it can be really hard to know where to focus. To help you, CAPT (Child Accident Prevention Trust) have put together some information on preventing some of the most serious and most easily preventable home-based accidents. Please click here for more information.